

100 years of protecting patients through biological standards for medicines

The MHRA produces over 95 per cent of the World Health Organization's (WHO) biological standards.