

1,400 and counting: record number of charging sockets at UK schools thanks to government funding

Home and workplace charging schemes extended for another year to support jobs and make the UK a clean energy superpower.