

8 promising Pakistani journalists set to hone their skills in UK

Leading journalists from Pakistan's top media outlets are to attend the University of Westminster for an intensive two-month course on holding democratic processes to account.