Royale Grande 900 Housing

A brand new mould was created to create the newest variation for the successful 900 memorial housing unit. The Royale pediment adds height and grandeur to the system creating a truly impressive memorial.

Royale Pediment

Development in product design can be a fluid process and this is evidenced with the introduction of the Royale pediment which when combined with the 900 Grande housing system becomes the impressive looking Royale Grande memorial.

Inspiration

Royale memorial in stone

Royale memorial with granite tablet

The initial design was inspired by an elegant memorial within a cemetery and this was the template for our own Royale decorative cast stone memorial.

Royale pediments in production

This latest version is very much 'of the gene pool' and draws upon the heritage of earlier designs whilst embracing new lines of form to reflect its use as a pediment in its own right.

Installation Innovation

This project showcases welters® expertise in burial chamber installations with a unique arrangement of raised burial chambers set within a cemetery island.

Installation Innovation

The completed installation provides the Burial Authority with a premium interment facility, extending the burial service provision for the cemetery users.

The Best of British Design and Manufacturing welters® are pleased to announce the introduction of their new multi-material mausolea range.

This 'high end' design range is available at affordable prices with bespoke options available, to meet customer needs.

The range, which is integral to the welters® Heritage funeral experience, is designed to embrace a variety of multi-material specifications.

The design, together with the optional variables, enables a unique aesthetic and architectural synchronicity which allows the product to blend with new or historic landscapes.

Multi-material mausolea

The mausoleum brings together stone, wood and steel in a harmonious design created, manufactured and installed by welters® specialist in-house teams to ensure the highest quality of service provision and detail.

Stone furniture collection

The collection of stone furniture can be utilised individually or used as a set to create an attractive arrangement either inside or out. The flexibility of the manufacturing process also enables this range to be produced from a variety of alternative materials.

IDEAS IN ACTION

Installation Innovation

welters® Polygon Tower rotunda niche structure for cremated remains has been revised and now includes three walls which radiate out providing additional interment space within an attractively designed construction. With the addition of the conical roof component the tower will make an impressive and attractive feature for any cemetery/crematorium.

The Cemetery Village®

welters® have, over many years, created and coordinated the most comprehensive collection of inspiring Interment Solutions.

The exhilarating combination of product collection combines to exhibit an environment of true excellence in terms of design and ongoing operational management advantage.

Previous industry procedures and working practices can be rendered obsolete and disadvantageous in terms of a true understanding of the requirements of the bereaved and sound business management.

The culmination of welters® research and development in this funeral related market sector is the welters® Cemetery Village®.

Tree of Life

Keith Walters first conceived the idea of a communal memorial based on the ancient concept of a 'tree of life' back in 1998. The design alludes to the interconnection with our world and acts as a metaphor for rebirth and the evolution of life itself.

Over the years the design has been developed and re-imagined as a stainless steel memorial with inscribed leaves and as fountain feature. The latest envisagement is in the form of a disc tree which echoes elements from the original design.

New burial chamber installation brings high-end designs to cemetery users

The plots can be pre-purchased and an upgrade option is available to increase inscription space if required.

Cemetery systems specialists welters® have recently completed a large installation of burial chambers complete with a wide range of high-end memorial designs, offering cemetery users maximum choice across the development.

Previously the area was thought to be 'unusable' due to high water tables but the scheme has enabled the burial authority to reclaim the land and at the same time offer their service users a premium place of burial.

All the designs were created and produced at welters® UK based manufacturing facility.

Memorial Orb Niches

welters® are leading the way in developing new and innovative products for the bereaved and their range of 'orb' memorial niche systems provide a unique choice for interment and commemoration.

Keith Welters MD said:

"We wanted to bring something new and original to the industry and our range of memorial orbs offer individuality and an elemental quality that's very magical. It's something you don't get from a standard niche wall or columbarium."

The Cremated Remains are placed in to special caskets which in turn are then placed within the Orb. Each memorial orb comes with a tablet for inscription included and all memorial tablets are high quality polished granite. All inscription requirements can be catered for.
