Introducing Exciting New Partnership Programme Opportunities

Often, exciting and purposeful projects flounder as a result of a combination of insufficient commitment to funding and a lack of professional and experienced onward management charged with competent enthusiasm.

Each welters Partnership Programme is specifically tailored to embrace success against the backdrop of the interest, experience and requirement of the partners and the nature of the individual project.

welters Partnerships more commonly emerge when welters DESIGN, MANUFACTURE and INSTALL systems are incorporated as turnkey facilities. The further participants, being either private or public sector operators, are likely to cause land under their ownership or control to be utilised for the programme.

All project and partner capability and requirement is variable. welters can operate all or none of the ongoing functions. Activity by either welters or partners is pre-organised by agreement with process for revision should any responsibility or ingredient not be fulfilled successfully and expeditiously.

Dispelling the Myth

The Reality - there is no shortage of BURIAL SPACE in the United Kingdom.

The solution to the provision of decent, invigorating and culturally diverse cemeteries and commemorative gardens is the provision of welters Cemetery Village® Systems.

It is regressive for the Bereavement Services industry to curtail the forward movement of exciting and resolvable projects through the ongoing pursuance of outdated and unworkable environmental technology and working practices.

The reasonable expectation of the bereaved and public generally, requires that the Bereavement Services industry moves forward in line or in advance of the needs and expectations of the people in order that due respect, stability and celebration can be decently applied to the passage of time through life and death. Both young and old should be embraced in creative and appropriate provision.

welters Cemetery Systems provide solutions through the Cemetery Village® Concept.

Should cemetery operations not be able, for a variety of reasons, to develop enhanced provisions, the welters Partnership Programme is in place to provide financial and professional support in this vital and essential area of work and responsibility.

welters Innovation in Provision and Management of Burial Chambers and Mausolea

The welters Cemetery Village® experience is now achieving 'sought after' status as the ultimate affordable alternative to earthen burial and cremation.

Substantial benefits are created to burial authorities in terms of legalising burial procedures and controlling management costs and negating carbon footprints. Much more importantly, the creation of an amazing sense of 'well being' for the bereaved at the time of interment and subsequently is achieved. The grieving and grief focus process, being thoroughly uplifted, is the ultimate achievement in the design of service provision excellence.

welters now extend and embrace the requirement for cemetery service provision specifically in the form of welters Cemetery Village® facilities to be available to Funeral Directors in a manner which is in keeping with the demands of their business and furthermore the needs and aspirations of their clients both short and long term.

As you would expect, welters have special and professional arrangements for Funeral Directors wishing to participate in 'forward thinking' aspects of administration, pre purchase and payment management, all configured to suit local practice.

Company News.

welters continue to develop larger projects designing land and operational management solutions involving ground water problems combined with exclusively unique environmental engineering systems resolving all aspects of existing and new cemetery design. The Company Pedigree, at the cutting edge of proactive development has enabled the design and installation of probably the most advanced solar powered water pumping system ever built. This has been incorporated in the breathtaking 'Tree of Life' design for memorialisation and also a new glass and stainless steel mausoleum modular range.

welters thank all existing customers who encourage and support their innovation and welcome the opportunity to embrace new customers with the welters Cemetery Village[®] livery.

welters are continually recruiting at all levels through administration, manufacturing and installation.

welters Company News

Almost every cemetery has pockets of land that can easily be transformed with Welters burial chamber schemes in any ground conditions or shallow grave situations. They offer a very affordable solution for premier interment and memorial schemes with varying finish specifications like this one recently completed at Tottenham Cemetery. It has been carefully developed to blend into the existing environment and yet have a very smart, high end finish specification that extends the cemetery life and creates new revenue generation to fund further phases.

NEW DESIGN INNOVATION within the welters Cemetery Village® family of enclave elements - providing sanctuary from the abrasions of the often unpleasant and unsolicited urban and city-scape frenzy.

The AVENUE of whispering subtle chimes through nature's breath affords solace and harmony throughout the AVENUE of tranquillity®.

Each sculptured blade, reaching ever skywards is as individual and uplifting as the rolling carpet of glorious wild flowers from which they emerge. Individual and communal memorial and inscription schemes compliment the artistry of the architecture whilst providing the income stream essential to project realisation.

The AVENUE in this illustration above approaches the beautiful welters Portico of Peace® featuring a flowing canopy of leaves with doves in flight. This has proven to be a widely appreciated piece of Cemetery Village® feature work.

In the distance, the uniquely stimulating and sensual solar powered water feature provides a focal point within the enclave and again features doves on gently swaying branches through cascades of mist spray which creates an overall ambience of beauty and spirituality. welters pro-active and innovative design team has been able to continue this theme throughout their range of spiritual artwork including the Mother and Baby sculpture and Stairway to Heaven water feature as pictured below.

welters Company News – Jan 09

In times of economic slow down, we are pleased to say that the advantages of cost effective package alternatives to traditional earthen burials and cemetery management, such as we have been designing and offering to the industry now for over 15 years, are being brought sharply into focus! The unpredictable climate is not improving, the Island is not getting any bigger and the population continues to increase. Land is not getting any cheaper but people will always want to bury and /or cremate and memorialise. So with the fast diminishing "ideal cheap, dry and well located land" for traditional burial, we are able to help Local Authorities all over the country solve their burial and cemetery management problems and financial dilemmas with revenue generating schemes, and practical management solutions with conception to completion and beyond services as well as dedicated specialist support under a single supplier status.

April 2009

Old common grave section regeneration/re-use, north London

Welters are successfully regenerating and extending the life of cemeteries nationwide with their unique ability to create fixed price cost effective, legal and architecturally sensitive enhanced service provision options in these specialised ground conditions, over old common sections and often below water tables. The technology and procedures are continually being developed to ensure that Local Authorities can provide a reliable service provision with confidence on a fully installed fixed price framework basis selecting from a "menu" of above and below ground options complete with memorialisation.

Lancaster Baby and Child Memorial Garden scheme

A combination of below ground chambers has made multi interment options possible for this Authority, providing both communal burial with horizontal and vertical dividers within the chambers , and individual one piece child chambers for private pre-purchase. The scheme also includes a secure keepsakes building with cremated remains interment altar, and cremated remains interment and memorial options throughout. The beautiful centre feature is being created from sustainable UK harvested mature hardwood. Dedication is planned for Summer 2009.

WELTERS ORGANISATION WORLDWIDE

This year one of the projects that we are particularly proud of is the Torrisholme Baby and Child Memorial and Interment Garden just outside the coastal town of Morecambe in Lancashire which opened on the 31st of July. Although it is not a large scheme, it demonstrates clearly that with all of the ingredient elements, and making full use of our comprehensive package of services, the client can achieve with confidence, the very best results on all levels on any scale.

This scheme was from "conception to completion" designed, manufactured, installed, promoted and will be serviced by our all in house fully employed teams. It includes, adult double interment burial chambers with a Welters vertical dividing system to maximise numbers of smaller and communal interments, child chambers, baby chambers, above and below cremated remains interment niches and chambers, integrated memorialisation, seating, planters, communal flower placement areas, fountains of the sea obelisks, a water point, a keepsake building with a niche altar and candle boxes for which all rights owners will have a key, and of course the unusual and mesmerising centre feature for the children made from sweet chestnut timber, hand sourced and carved from a UK sustainable managed woodland to compliment the marine and woodland connections of this project. We would very much like to have the opportunity to provide all of our customers with this unique in house turnkey service.

"It was good to see many of our valued customers and colleagues at conference again this year and to be working with them closely to create "real" solutions to solve the "real" issues facing our industry moving forward. In the later part of this year we have been busy on many projects on varying scales from "one off" emergency burial chamber and grave extension installations all over the UK, to large scale land management and burial solution schemes creating new cemeteries in ordinarily unusable land masses. We have also pioneered the solution for a wonderful Glades of Remembrance lake project which is due to be opened this autumn. Look out for new and exciting developments to our Funeral Experience™ Burial Systems! We continue to design, develop, manufacture and action real concepts for real problems and most importantly, follow them through with our support services and Partnership Programme options".

— the Pioneer Cemetery Design and Build Company with over 20 years market service and expertise celebrates yet another year of leadership in concept manufacture, installation and management. welters™ experience and success combines as a result of ongoing commitment to invest in research and development.

Cemetery Village™ - Project Open Day

welters™ provide comprehensive 'in house' architectural services specialising in cemetery architecture with complete specialist design and planning, manufacturing, installation and construction services.

Local Authority Cemetery Services, following the Second World War and the growth of cremation numbers, became dissipated and the will, knowledge and dedication to conceive, create and implement effective, desirable and financially viable Cemetery Services faded into insignificance in the face of the sanitised 'conveyor' solution that for the time being became, and to some extent still is, popular.

There is a lot of talk about change. The government wants change, ever increasing variety and partnerships. We talk about forward planning and innovation, but generally, there is still not a lot happening. We believe that change needs a kick start, and that great vision is required in this modern day of computers and disposable culture to improve the quality, the variety and artistic inspiration of our products and services as future generations will very soon have nothing to be inspired by from this period.

Chapel Restoration and Interior Niche Installation - Project Open Day

welters™ organisation, with the thorough awareness and understanding of the emotional and cultural requirements of the bereaved and the legal, management and technical ability to provide excellent solutions and at all times have continually expanded their full range of in house services.

welters™ have carefully moulded the development of the business to apply to the specific and broad ranging issues affecting the client base. We have learned that because we have worked hard to manufacture all of our products and develop all of the skills required 'in house', we find more and more customers benefiting from our 'complete package service ability'. From architectural and planning through to bespoke scheme design, product manufacture/supply and complete installation, with PR and marketing support services also being very popular.

Our customers are experiencing direct benefits where it counts, like having ultimate control over project brief, specification and aesthetics based on our detailed proposals. They are utilising the benefits of dealing with one company who has specialist experience and ability in all of these areas which also gives them economies of scale and the ability to instruct us on single supplier

welters™ systems and ability to specify multi modular and varying finish solutions facilitate pre-selling with zero environmental impact and no additional drainage requirements giving clean, safe, space saving, UK specification LACO compliant enhanced service provision options in any location without disturbing existing remains and no, or low ongoing maintenance cost burden making it a viable priced solution for the bereaved.

All ideas, solutions, manufacturing and 24/7 back up support essentially must be generated from within the company and cannot, be structured from a 'mis-mash' of sub-contracted 'bit parts' with no dedication, inadequate knowledge or control.

The development of an environment to embrace culture, emotion and spirituality through excellent design and technical performance is an art form in its own right. welters™ have perfected these skills, linked with performance design which over many years has resolved and overcome almost every conceivable land use issue from sub water tablet construction to re-use and contaminated status.

Child/Baby Memorial Garden - Project Open Day

Good environmental solution is inextricably linked with economic viability and the true and fundamental requirement and responsibility of mankind to respect and remember its dead.

welters™ mission continues to be to research and develop inspirational and classic designs, higher quality products, space saving and safe solutions for cost effective supply and installation.

welters™ organisation worldwide Company News

By the time you are reading this, the extreme weather conditions of December 2009 and January 2010 may well be a distant memory, but for us it compounded and demonstrated more advantages of schemes that we designed and specified with our below and above ground interment solutions. As many cemetery staff fought valiantly to maintain a burial service, unfortunately many were cancelled. On sites that utilise our systems, consistent and professional service was maintained regardless of the weather conditions. We also felt a bit like the RAC of the cemetery service being called on more than ever to carry out our back up interment services where staff could not attend. We continue to apply an original and lateral thought process to the issues facing the industry that generate "relevant and viable" solutions. We are able to utilise very poor, normally unsuitable land for traditional burial, for schemes on any scale. It can be one off emergency interments and memorialisation, re-use of existing cemeteries or new sites from conception to completion 'in house' with our full specialist design, manufacture install and caring back up, interment, inscription, support, management, partnership and renovation services.

welters® Company News – April 2010

The first quarter of this year has seen some interesting changes to the way Local Authorities approach their cemetery management strategies and continues to bring more clearly in to focus the advantage of the revenue generating and problem solving solutions we have been proposing and demonstrating to the industry for many years.

We have worked on many projects this first quarter, from major London Authorities, through the Midlands and into the North. They range from Muslim burial solutions to Catholic traditional sections in very difficult high water table ground conditions as well as some very exciting community and private family chamber mausolea schemes. We have also developed more schemes for the re-use of common grave sections in closed or closing cemeteries due to a lack of space.

We are finding that our full support service packages and interment services are being engaged and relied upon more consistently which allows management and cost control to be predictable, effective, professional and reliable.

Our ability to specify any interment possibility to any budget requirement on any scale from our own stock of in house manufactured, fully installed, maintained and managed schemes is allowing local and private authorities to achieve relevant full and practical solutions and most importantly, a fixed finished price point that is relevant to their fees and charges anywhere in the country.

welters® offer to apply to apply our progressive and comprehensive packages to any cemetery or crematoria service and free site surveys and proposals are available on request.

welters® organisation worldwide – Company News

The progress and extended success of welters® organisation in the last quarter has been outstanding in that we have designed and built the first Classic Majestic Community Mausolea which embraces front charging interment positions, side charging interment positions and cremated remains interment niches. The amazing design is characterised by a beautiful overhanging roof feature supported by classic columns embellished with welters® Cemetery Village® liveried ferro work and delivers the most progressive/state of the art architecture at a cost point which is unrivalled in the industry. These new design developments follow closely behind the beautiful 'Embankment Mausolea' which were introduced to the market place throughout the Winter period.

Now, within the second decade following the global launch at the UNESCO L'Art de Cimetiere conference in Wroclaw, welters® organisation are releasing the multi-material product into the British market. This completely unique product range and service provision will now be available to the Public in September.

Another project is well under way and due for completion in December in the award winning Wood Green Cemetery in North London.

welters® design, manufacture and full installation of 104 welters® double interment chambers, complete with classic 900 type memorial systems, including all civil engineering and drainage. Scheme design features include multi terracing and steps using galvanised steel columns and oak sleeper retaining walls and the distinctive signature welters® 'doves and leaves' galvanised steel hand railing fence. The scheme is a final phase to complete a very successful multi phase programme for the cemetery since we established the Cemetery Village® concept in it.

welters® have also successfully re-opened Hanwell Cemetery for Westminster City Council, showing their unique abilities, products and services on a rolling programme under the Cemetery Village® livery, to revitalise the Burial Authority whilst securing the future of the inner city locations for the local communities.

Difficult times or new opportunities?

The difficult financial times have seen a major review in spending policies to maintain and drive cemetery and crematoria services using existing practises, challenging procedure and policy. It all brings more sharply into focus than ever, the advantages of the pioneering land use concepts of welters®. These have been demonstrated for many years now and facilitate re-use in existing cemeteries and cost relevant serviceable solutions in very difficult and traditionally unusable land. Our ability to deliver this concept effectively has enabled Authorities with very low capital investment levels to keep burial services local, saving them substantial investment on major strategy decisions when looking at the need to extend or purchase new land. If you think you have run out of space, call welters® first.

We are working with Local Authorities and private sector partners alike to implement significant revenue generating schemes under our partnership programmes with un-precedented levels of bureaucratic simplicity and effectiveness.

We have successfully completed a number of exciting projects leading up to Christmas and into the New Year, and are firmly in the market to provide the most cost effective, relevant and innovative full cemetery design and build schemes on any scale, to any budget. We are now also very well placed at this important time to acquire new sites and cemetery services generally, outright or to jointly operate in partnership should any Authority wish to enquire about the strategic advantages and options we can deliver.
