

A third of birthing women vaccinated in the first month of RSV offer

Over a third of women giving birth got the new RSV vaccine in September, protecting newborns from severe illness.