

Anglers asked to embrace careful catch and release of salmon

The Environment Agency and its partner organisations are today calling on anglers to choose to release salmon caught by rod and line and to handle fish with care.