

Sudan forces fire tear gas at protesters

Tue, 2022-11-08 23:16

KHARTOUM: Sudanese security forces fired tear gas on Tuesday as they confronted thousands of pro-democracy demonstrators in the capital Khartoum.

Protesters chanted “No to military rule” as they marched toward the presidential palace, denouncing a coup last year led by army chief Abdel Fattah Al-Burhan that derailed a transition to civilian rule.

Burhan seized power in October 2021 and arrested civilian leaders appointed following the 2019 ouster of long-time autocrat Omar Bashir, plunging Sudan into a political and economic crisis.

Main category:
Middle-East

---

Lebanese security remains robust despite presidential vacuum, minister

says

Tue, 2022-11-08 23:06

BEIRUT: As the Lebanese state continues to operate without a new president in place, the security services will take all necessary steps to maintain order, the country's acting interior minister said on Tuesday.

Following a meeting with the Central Internal Security Council, caretaker minister Bassam Mawlawi said security is something all Lebanese require and "it is the duty of security bodies to maintain it using all available means."

Main category:

Middle-East

---

Yemen military leader gunned down in Marib

Tue, 2022-11-08 20:56

AL-MUKALLA: A Yemeni military leader who had fought the Iran-backed Houthis for the past seven years was assassinated on Tuesday in the central city of Marib, while local human rights groups blasted the Houthis for launching ballistic missiles on the city.

Local security officers and media reports said that unidentified men killed

Brig. Gen. Mohammed Al-Jaradi, an adviser to Yemen's defense minister, as well as his bodyguard outside the city of Marib.

Main category:
Middle-East

---

Palestinians alarmed Ben-Gvir in new Israeli Cabinet might abuse prisoners

Tue, 2022-11-08 19:34

RAMALLAH: Palestine's factions have agreed to draw up a comprehensive plan, which includes escalating resistance in various areas of the West Bank and preparing for strikes inside prisons, which may be the largest in the history of Palestinian prisoners in Israeli jails.

This follows a possibility that the right-wing extremist Israeli Knesset member Itamar Ben-Gvir might become the minister of internal security and police and follow up on his threats to place more restrictions on Palestinian prisoners.

Main category:
Middle-East

---

Children living in 'open air prison' at Syria's Al-Hol camp: MSF

Tue, 2022-11-08 00:28

BEIRUT: Doctors Without Borders (MSF) has deplored the fate of thousands of children living in "a giant open air prison" at Syria's notorious Al-Hol camp.

Al-Hol is the largest camp for displaced people who fled after Kurdish-led forces backed by a US-led coalition dislodged Daesh fighters from their last scrap of territory in Syria in 2019.

In the country's northeast near Iraq, Al-Hol is overpopulated with more than 50,000 residents including relatives of suspected terrorists, displaced Syrians, and Iraqi refugees.

Main category:
Middle-East