

Government announces details of Subsidy Scheme for Beauty Parlours, Massage Establishments and Party Rooms

To provide relief to beauty parlours, massage establishments and party rooms affected by the epidemic and various anti-epidemic measures, the Government will launch the Subsidy Scheme for Beauty Parlours, Massage Establishments and Party Rooms under the second round of the Anti-epidemic Fund (the AEF) on May 11 (Monday).

A government spokesman said, "A sum of $1.1 billion has been earmarked under the AEF for the Scheme, which is expected to benefit some 12 400 beauty parlours and massage establishments, as well as some 500 party rooms. The subsidy is expected to be disbursed from late this month onwards."

Under the Scheme, each eligible beauty parlour or massage establishment will receive a one-off tiered subsidy of $30,000, $60,000 or $100,000, depending on its number of workers. On the other hand, each eligible party room will receive a one-off subsidy of $40,000.

Subsidy for beauty parlours and massage establishments

- The relevant premises is not a carrier that can be used for transport (e.g. buses, trams and sea vessels); and
- The relevant premises is not eligible for other premises-based subsidy schemes under the second round of the AEF, e.g. clubhouses.

Subsidy amount

Each eligible party room will receive a one-off subsidy of $40,000.

Documentary proof

Operators of party rooms are required to submit documentary proof for their applications, including a valid business registration certificate, address proof of the party room, recent photographs of the exterior and interior of the party room and information of the online platform, social media account, email, instant messaging or telephone number for marketing and/or reservation.

Beauty parlours, massage establishments or party rooms operated by social enterprises (SEs)

The Scheme also covers premises which are operated by SEs and can fulfil the aforementioned criteria. For premises with business registration, SE operators should file their applications through the Scheme's dedicated online application system; for premises without business registration, SE operators should directly approach the Hong Kong Council of Social Service (HKCSS) via its hotline (2864 2993) or email (sebc@hkcss.org.hk) to obtain its certification and submit their applications. These SE operators should fulfil the following criteria:

- Be listed on the Social Enterprise Directory maintained by the HKCSS; or
- Be accredited under the Social Enterprise Endorsement Mark administered by the Hong Kong General Chamber of Social Enterprises; or
- Be supported by government grants, such as the Social Innovation and Entrepreneurship Development Fund, the Enhancing Self-Reliance Through District Partnership Programme and the Enhancing Employment of People with Disabilities through Small Enterprise Project.

Application arrangement and application period

To facilitate the application process and enhance the efficiency of vetting, applications will only be accepted if they are submitted via the dedicated online application system. Applicants may submit applications and necessary supporting documents through personal computers or smartphones. There is no need for applicants to rush the submission of online applications on the first day of the application period, as the Scheme is not being run on a first-come, first-served basis. The above arrangement is largely in line with that adopted by the Retail Sector Subsidy Scheme under the first round of the AEF.

The application period for the Scheme is from May 11 (Monday) to May 17 (Sunday). The website of the online application system for the Scheme is bmpsubsidy.gov.hk. The online application system is scheduled to commence operation at 9am on May 11 (Monday). The deadline for application is 11.59pm on May 17 (Sunday).

Each eligible beauty parlour, massage establishment or party room premises may only apply once, and will only receive one subsidy. If more than one application is received in respect of the same address, all duplicate applications for that premises will not be processed, as it would be difficult to determine which application should prevail.

Applicants should note that during the vetting process, the Government will examine the business registration certificates and other supporting documents submitted by the applicants to consider whether an application is eligible in a holistic manner. The Government will not make a decision solely on the basis of the nature of business as stated in the business registration certificate. In addition, the Government will verify the business registration information submitted by the applicants with the administrative records from the Business Registration Office to ascertain whether the relevant premises was in operation before the specific date as required by the Scheme. Therefore, there is no need for applicants to amend their business registration information for the purpose of applying for the Scheme.

Enquiries and assistance

A dedicated telephone hotline (1836 188) and email address (enquiry@bmpsubsidy.hk) will commence operation at 9am tomorrow (May 7) to handle enquiries on the details of the Scheme.

Update on latest MERS situation in Saudi Arabia

The Centre for Health Protection (CHP) of the Department of Health is today (May 6) closely monitoring 15 additional cases of Middle East Respiratory Syndrome (MERS) reported to the World Health Organization (WHO) by Saudi Arabia from March 1 to 31. The CHP again urged the public to pay special attention to safety during travel, taking due consideration of the health risks in the places they visit.

According to the WHO, the 15 additional cases involve 13 male and two female patients aged 35 to 80, with 12 of them having underlying illnesses. Among them, two had exposure to camels and consumed camel milk, and five have passed away.

According to the latest information, 2 553 cases have been reported to the WHO (with 876 deaths), including 2 334 in 10 Middle East countries comprising 2 154 in Saudi Arabia, 91 in the United Arab Emirates, 28 in Jordan, 24 in Oman, 23 in Qatar, six in Iran, four in Kuwait, two in Lebanon, and one each in Yemen and Bahrain.

"We will maintain close communication with the WHO and relevant health authorities," a spokesman for the CHP said.

"As countries in the Middle East, particularly Saudi Arabia, continue to report MERS cases from time to time, travellers should refrain from going to farms, barns or markets with camels and avoid contact with sick persons and animals, especially camels, birds or poultry. Most of the cases reported in the Middle East had a history of exposure to camels, consumption of camel milk or contact with other MERS patients," the spokesman said.

"Scientific evidence shows that camels are reservoirs for MERS Coronavirus (MERS-CoV). Camels infected with MERS-CoV may not show any signs of infection. Infected animals may shed MERS-CoV through nasal and eye discharge and faeces, and potentially in their milk and urine. The virus may also be found in the raw organs and meat of infected animals. Therefore, the best protection is to practise good hygiene and avoid direct contact with all of these," the spokesman added.

From time to time, suspected MERS cases reported to the CHP for investigation involve patients with a history of contact with camels in the Middle East. The CHP strongly advises travel agents organising tours to the Middle East to abstain from arranging camel rides and activities involving direct contact with camels, which are known risk factors for acquiring MERS-CoV.

Travellers to affected areas should maintain vigilance, adopt appropriate health precautions and take heed of personal, food and environmental hygiene. The public may visit the MERS page of the CHP and its Travel Health Service to learn more about MERS statistics in affected areas. The public should also refer to the CHP's Facebook page and YouTube channel and the WHO's latest news for more information and health advice. Tour leaders and tour guides operating overseas tours are advised to refer to the CHP's health advice on MERS.
