

Honouring killed women in Parliament on International Women's Day

Minister for Safeguarding Jess Phillips reads the names of women suspected to have been murdered by men during International Women's Day debate.

UKHSA and Stabpharma highlight breakthrough with fridge-free tetanus and diphtheria vaccine

'Fridge-free' vaccines have huge potential for vaccine delivery in emergency response situations and the developing world.

Sellafield apprentice wins national skills award

Faye Rathmill has been named Higher & Degree Apprentice of the Year at the UK Nuclear Skills Awards 2026

Statement between Prime Minister Keir Starmer and Taoiseach Micheál Martin in Cork: 13 March 2026

Shared Prosperity, Shared Seas, Shared Ties.

BBC Media Action concludes Digital Media Literacy workshop in Isabel Province

Deputy Premier Tony Vahia opened the two-day workshop, which centred on the theme "Strengthening community voices and understanding misinformation and disinformation".