

UK recognises positive development through European Long Range Strike Approach

Cooperation with our NATO partners on the development of enhanced strike capabilities within the Alliance is crucial to maintaining our collective security.

Students turn sustainability learning into real opportunities

University students benefit from a collaborative partnership enabling them to apply their academic learning to a live sustainability case study.

Transparency data: Defra: workforce management information May 2026

Reports on departmental staff numbers and costs.

IAA launches training video series to support advisers

Five training videos are now available, with a further five to be released covering additional key areas of immigration advice and practice.

Norfolk heath restored after decade of nature recovery work

Rare butterflies, birds, and wildflowers benefit from 1,200 acres of new, species-rich grassland, equivalent to around 680 football pitches