

Benefits system distorts choices at 16

Families face financial penalties when young people take up apprenticeships.