

Billions to go directly to small businesses across the country as government sets new targets for spending

Government departments have, for the first time, set individual spending targets for small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs) to deliver over £7.4 billion a year to small businesses by 2028.