

Biodiversity's role in future agriculture

Developing demand for new foods is key to encouraging more diverse and sustainable production in global agriculture.