

Boost for Britain's financial services and greater protections for consumers as new legislation is introduced

Bill introduced to Parliament this week will unlock growth and investment across the country and boost protections for consumers.