

Boost in funding for care homes providing nursing

The government is set to increase funding for care homes providing nursing care in the community.