

Bringing bridges, subways to life

Local artists and government landscape architects have breathed new life into flyovers and subways in the city, tapping into characteristics of various districts.

News.gov.hk spoke to a Highways Department landscape architect and an artist to learn more about the design concepts of the upgrading works in Kowloon City and Tung Chung.

The story is available at www.news.gov.hk/eng/feature today (September 26) in text and video format.