

Britain to lead fusion energy race to deliver energy security

Government sets out its vision for developing a commercial fusion industry in the UK that will deliver skilled jobs, investment and growth.