

British and Canadian Ambassadors Host Reception for the Media

The Ambassadors underscored that threats to media freedom extend beyond times of war, including intimidation, censorship and criminalisation.