

British Army to increase lethality over the next decade while Royal Navy steps up innovation in NATO

British Army and Royal Navy to invest in innovative new programmes, through increased investment in drones and novel technologies to transform warfighting capability