

British-based firms lead the way for Apache helicopter support drones

Drones which will accompany the Army's Apache helicopters are receiving £10 million investment today as the programme reaches a new milestone.