

Broadmarsh retail partnership in liquidation

News story

Nottingham shopping centre redevelopment enters compulsory liquidation

On 3 July 2020 the partners of the Broadmarsh Retail Limited Partnership petitioned to wind the partnership up. Petitions were also presented against related companies and these have also entered compulsory liquidation. The Official Receiver has been appointed as liquidator.

The partnership had been redeveloping the Broadmarsh shopping centre in central Nottingham. The entities wound up do not have any employees or customers.

The Official Receiver has issued a notice disclaiming the companies' interest in the lease to the site. The effect of this notice is to hand control of the site back Nottingham City Council as freeholder. The Official Receiver continues to manage the liquidation of the companies wound up by the High Court.

Entities involved in the liquidation:

- The Broadmarsh Retail Limited Partnership (company number: LP006804)
- Broadmarsh Retail General Partner Limited (company number: 03929726)
