Campaign Hub: UK Nominee for DirectorGeneral of the WTO

News story

This page provides information on Dr Liam Fox's campaign to become Director-General of the World Trade Organization

Dr Liam Fox speaking at the WTO in July

On Wednesday 8 July, the Prime Minister nominated former International Trade Secretary Dr Liam Fox as the next Director-General of the World Trade Organization.

This follows an announcement earlier this year that the WTO's current Director-General, Roberto Azevedo would step down from his post in August, following 7 years in charge.

Dr Fox has significant political and diplomatic experience in the field of global trade. This page provides an overview of his campaign.
