

Chancellor commits to explore pro-growth tax reforms to support small businesses opening new premises

Small businesses could find it easier to expand and employ more people, thanks to government commitment to make business rates fairer.