

Cheshire lays foundations for a sustainable future with green light given for world-class geoenenergy research site

Cheshire West and Chester Council (CWACC) has unanimously approved the British Geological Survey's (BGS) planning application to site a UK Geoenenergy Observatory at Ince Marshes in the north of the county.