

CMA believes remedies offer in Safran / Collins may address competition concerns

CMA considers that undertakings offered by aerospace equipment manufacturer Safran could resolve competition concerns relating to its acquisition of part of aerospace business Collins.