

CMA launches strategic market status investigation into Microsoft's business software ecosystem

CMA sets out scope of its investigation to determine whether Microsoft should be designated with strategic market status for its business software ecosystem.