

Communities across the country to benefit from 'innovation squads' to re-build public services

Working people across England are set to benefit from better public services, with 'innovation squads' sent in to back community ideas and work with the frontline as part of a £100 million 'Test, Learn and Grow' reform progr...