

Communities protected as government readies nation for winter weather

Communities and businesses across the UK will benefit from more resilient infrastructure this winter, ahead of national campaign launching later this autumn to raise awareness of simple steps households can take in case of e...