

Concert cylinders and the first recording of the Queen's Hall Orchestra

By Jonathan Summers, Curator of Classical Music It was exciting to receive an Edison concert cylinder as a donation recently, but much more so to discover that it is probably the first recording by members of the Queen's Hall Orchestra. Cylinder box labels and the cylinders housed within often do...