Conference looks at building digital resilience for justice and home affairs

The interoperability regulations contain several safeguards to ensure respect for fundamental rights in their implementation which need to be adequately applied. FRA joined the panel debate on the new information architecture in justice and home affairs. The debate took place on 26 November.