

Construction of a new High Commission in Nicosia begins

The British High Commission is pleased to announce that construction on our new buildings has started at our existing site in Nicosia