

Controlling boyfriend's suspended sentence overturned

A man who violently abused and coercively controlled his partner has had his suspended sentence quashed following an intervention by the Attorney General.