

Coronavirus (COVID-19): letters to the manufacturing sector, November 2020 to January 2021

These letters thank those in the manufacturing industry and its supply chain for their success in continuing to manufacture, supply and export goods, including goods essential to our critical national infrastructure, despite the challenges of COVID-19.

They emphasise that the industry can and should continue to work during the current period of restrictions, and follow government guidance on safe working.