

Costa Rica: Open data projects for human rights and environmental protection

The British Embassy Costa Rica is inviting bids from civil society organisations in Costa Rica for small-scale projects that use public data to advance human rights and environmental protection. Projects will be implemented ...