

Council for Science and Technology seeks its next independent co-chair

The Council for Science and Technology (CST), which serves as the government's highest-level advisory council on science and technology, is seeking its next independent co-chair.