

CP visited officer suffering from burn injuries

The Commissioner of Police, Mr Lo Wai-chung, tonight (August 11) visited an injured Police officer in Princess Margaret Hospital. The officer sustained burn injuries on legs after being hit by a petrol bomb hurled by a radical protestor while he was on duty in Tsim Sha Tsui Police Station earlier today. Mr Lo was saddened that an officer sustained serious injuries while on duty.

Mr Lo expressed anger and severe condemnation against the reckless, violent and unlawful acts committed by the radical protestors. The Police Force will strive to investigate all violent acts that have caused serious and even life-threatening injuries.
