

Delivering an energy market that works for consumers

New proposals announced to expand automatic compensation schemes when things go wrong.