

Deputy Prime Minister convenes legal and business leaders to spearhead plan to future-proof UK legal sector

A new expert panel chaired by Deputy Prime Minister David Lammy will meet for the first time today (Monday 8 December), to make sure the UK remains a leading global centre for legal services.