

Derbyshire young people get insight into railway construction

Young people in Chesterfield have been given a hands-on insight into engineering and construction on Britain's new railway, HS2.