

Devon, Cornwall and Isles of Scilly in prolonged dry weather

The Environment Agency is moving the area into a state of prolonged dry weather after England's warmest spring on record and a series of summer heatwaves.