

Don't mind the gap: level boarding commitment for new trains

Disabled passengers and families are set to benefit from unassisted level boarding as the standard on new Great British Railways (GBR) trains.