

Dstl achieves UK's first optical downlink from space

A demonstration of laser technology has paved the way for a transformational leap in faster and more secure communications for the UK's armed forces.