

Durham halves the time needed to assess potential sites

Durham County Council used a digital site assessment platform to standardise assessments and reduce officer time.