

Education Secretary unveils plan for schools to tackle misogyny

New whole-school approach to give schools new package of support to tackle misogyny and combat influence of figures like Andrew Tate