

Eight new members appointed to the Council for Science and Technology

Eight new members have been appointed to the Council that advises the Prime Minister and Cabinet on science and technology.