

End of the road for unofficial driving test booking services

From today (12 May 2026), only learner drivers can book and manage their own driving test – part of a crackdown on exploitation by third-party services.