

England recovered from drought as weather whiplash sees floods

Heavy rainfall sees water levels recover across England with all areas now back to normal status