

England's reservoirs continue to feel drought strain after sixth dry month of 2026

Below average September rainfall compounds drought issues in southern and central England