

Environment Agency continues to call for urgent action as water company performance declines

Water companies in England achieve only 19 stars out of 36—the lowest since EPA began in 2011